Behavioural science and cancer screening workshop

About the workshop

Join colleagues from across Switzerland for a one-day workshop focused on behavioural science and cancer screening. The workshop will bring together behavioural researchers and cantonal screening programmes to exchange perspectives, share experiences, and explore opportunities for future collaboration. Please save the date. A detailed programme and formal invitation, including information on how to sign up, will follow in the coming weeks.

Programme

- 09H30 – 13H00 Introduction to behavioural science
Examples of behavioural insights applied to cancer screening
Overview of the current cancer screening landscape in Switzerland
- 14H00 – 16H40 Interactive group discussions
Identification of shared challenges and potential collaborative projects

Practical information

- ◆ Cost: Free of charge (sponsored by the Swiss School of Public Health SSPH+)
- ◆ Catering: Lunch and coffee breaks provided

We look forward to welcoming you in Lausanne
